

YOUNG MAN
BEING TRIEDRobert Eddy Gets a Prompt
Trial in Rutland

IS ACCUSED OF MURDER

His Trial Started This Afternoon, Less
Than a Month After Body of Mary Jane Johnson Was Found at Wallingford.

Rutland, Nov. 1.—The trial of Robert Eddy of Wallingford, who is charged with murder, was begun in Rutland county court this afternoon. The respondent, who is 28 years old and unmarried, is accused of having killed Mary Jane Johnson, aged 67 years, a maid lady, at her home in Wallingford on October 9 by strangulation, having attacked her with the purpose of criminal assault. Frank L. Fish of Vergennes and W. H. Botsford of Rutland are counsel for the defense, while Attorney General Sargent of Ludlow and State's Attorney Jones of this city are conducting the prosecution. The whole afternoon will probably be spent in drawing a jury.

Eddy's arrest was made the day that the murder was discovered, although he was first charged with a violation of the liquor law. He was subsequently committed to the house of correction for a year on the charge of furnishing liquor, contrary to law. A short time after his commitment, special grand jury was called, and it brought an indictment on the charge of murder.

Miss Johnson was a recluse who lived near what is known as "The bridge," her only companions being four cats. There were evidences of a struggle in her house, a chair being broken and a rug crumpled.

EXPLOSION KILLS

12 COAL MINERS

Three of 15 Men in Cambria Steel Company's Colliery Escape by Ladders
Through Gas and Falling Slate.

Johnstown, Pa., Nov. 1.—Twelve men were killed in the Cambria Steel company's coal mine, two miles from here last night, as the result of what is supposed to have been a dynamite explosion. All the dead were strikers. Three men escaped with their lives by a perilous climb on life ladders through poisonous mine gas and falling slate up the steep walls of the main shaft. At the time of the explosion only 15 workmen, all track layers, were in the mine.

The explosion occurred at sundown as the workmen were putting their tools away at the end of their day's work. The concussion shattered many windows in the mining village surrounding the mine.

Hundreds of persons gathered at the mine entrance. A force of men, working in shifts, began clearing the debris and fallen slate in the lower levels of the mine where the explosion occurred. It was hours before the workers gained perceptible headway. When the final barrier of rocks was passed, the rescue party found 12 huddled forms close together, the bodies indicating the men had died of suffocation.

Springfield, Mass., Nov. 1.—Four hundred French, Scotch and Irish workers deserted the 2,600 strikers at the Ludlow bagging mills today and returned to work, protected by 25 deputies under General Clark, the sheriff of Hampden county. The Polish strikers are observing All Saints day. The real test will come tomorrow when trouble is feared.

ASKS TO BE TAKEN IN CHARGE.

O'Leary Tells Newport Police He Fears
Return of Suicide Mania.

Newport, R. I., Nov. 1.—Just released from Blackwell's island, New York, where he had been detained for attempted suicide, James O'Leary asked the Newport police yesterday to take charge of him as he was afraid he would renew his attempt to take his life. O'Leary was committed to the state insane asylum at Cranston.

Prior to his detention at Blackwell's island O'Leary was confined at the naval insane asylum in Washington, having been sent there from the Boston navy yard in 1908. Shortly after being released from the naval institution O'Leary stabbed himself twice, for which he was sent to Blackwell's island. He enlisted as an apprentice in the navy in 1888 and had been in the service for many years.

HUGHES' CHANCE.

To Get a Backing Which Would Help
Him in Race For President.

Albany, N. Y., Nov. 1.—Gov. Hughes is declared to be in a position where he can get control of the state machines through the death of Charles Gaus, the state controller in his Canadian camp. Gaus had a big patronage and the appointment of Hughes as a partisan would wreck the regular Republican machine. It is believed that with this machine behind him Hughes would be a big figure in the next Republican National convention where it will be sure to be opposed by many middle-west delegations.

BOMBS SHAKE CHICAGO.

Two Explosions Last Night in Gambler's Feud.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—Two bombs were exploded last night in down town buildings occupied by gambling clubs. The bombs were the 22nd 23rd that have been hurled in gambling establishments within the last two years. No one was injured, but many windows were broken and stores closed were damaged.

The first bomb exploded soon after six o'clock in a building at 290 State street and the other followed fifteen minutes later in a building near La Salle and Madison streets.

In the State street building the Empire club, an alleged gambling organization, was quarantined while the building at Madison and La Salle streets houses the Worth Jockey club, which keeps a hand-book on horse races.

For two years a series of bombs has been exploded intermittently in Chicago in gambling houses. The nets are said to be due to a quarrel between syndicates of gamblers who operate in violation of the law.

The explosion in State street last night shocked the heart of the city and windows in buildings within a radius of a block were broken. The lower floors of the five-story building were occupied by a tea store. The concussion did most damage in the store-room on the first floor.

Many buildings adjacent to the explosion were damaged including the Chicago Automobile club, the Imperial and the Interurban hotels and the Premier theatre, a vaudeville house. The theatre was filled with people when the bomb was fired. The frightened men and women rushed for the street but no one was injured.

Guests in more pretentious hotels as far as four blocks away were startled. The police, after investigating the circumstances, found that the first bomb had been set off apparently in the upper floors of the building occupied by the Empire club, formerly managed by "Social" Smith and "Harry" Perry. A bomb was exploded there three years ago last July. Since that time Smith and Perry sold to a syndicate which began operations only a few days ago.

This syndicate, it is reported, had also obtained control of the Worth Jockey club in Madison street, where the second bomb was fired last night. The street from the La Salle hotel, across the street from the Worth Jockey club, were started by the second explosion.

In both cases alarms of fire were sounded, but no fire resulted from the explosions.

TWO RESCUED

IN UPSET OF BOAT

Man Falls Off Pier After Being Pulled Out; Launch is Overturned in Portsmouth and One Drowned;

Six Saved.

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 1.—Napoleon Terrien of Dover was rescued last evening, when the motor boat in which he and six companions were returning from a fishing trip was driven by the tide against the Portsmouth bridge and overturned.

Terrien and his companions had passed through the draw on their way up the river to Dover, when the engine stopped and the swift tide drove the boat against the pier. Five of the men managed to catch hold of the strings but Terrien and Joseph Demers were thrown into the water. Demers was swept down river. Demers was rescued by Capt. Duncan, who with the crew of the tugboat Lizzie J. Call, started to the aid of the men.

The bridge watchman, John Parsons, and a score of people who were on the bridge at the time pulled the other men from the strings to safety. Demers was taken aboard the schooner, and after a short time started to walk away, when he fell over the pier into the water, but was pulled out by Watchman Parsons.

The other five men as soon as they were taken from the strings, boarded an electric car for Dover without giving their names.

STABBING MAY BE FATAL.

R. L. Thomas, Well Known Turfman, Attacked By Jockey.

New York, Nov. 1.—R. L. Thomas, the well known turfman of Paris, Ky., was stabbed in the left breast at the Sheepshead bay track yesterday afternoon by Carol Schilling, one of his jockeys. His condition is serious. Schilling was arrested last night at his boarding house near the track after Thomas' physician had become convinced that his patient's injuries demanded that the matter be reported to the police.

On Saturday Schilling rode two firsts, Woodcraft and Eddie Dugan, two seconds, and was unplaced once in five mounts. His success with the two-year-old Sir Ashmore and with Jack Atkin have made him well known to race followers from coast to coast. Last winter he had trouble with the Pacific Jockey club and was suspended by the stewards. His subsequent reinstatement is said to have been directly due to the personal intervention of Mr. Thomas.

FORECLOSURE
SUIT BROUGHTThompson, Starrett Co. Sue
E. B. Ellis Granite Co.

ON $200,000 MORTGAGE

The Suit Has Just Been Entered in Washington County Chancery Court.
The Mortgage Was Given in 1905.

A suit for the foreclosure of a $200,000 mortgage has been entered in Washington county chancery court, being brought by the Thompson, Starrett company against the E. B. Ellis granite company of Northfield, which has a granite plant at Northfield and quarries at Bethel. From the papers in the suit it appears that the mortgage on the property was given on July 24, 1905. Attorney Clark of Castleton appears for the plaintiff and the Plumley, Frank and Charles, of Northfield for the Ellis company. The case has just been entered and probably will not be taken up for some time.

The trial of the case of State vs. Elton Taylor of Barre, charged with adultery, was resumed in Washington county court today, and it is expected that the case will be finished by to-morrow, since the evidence was all introduced this morning. The complainant, Elizabeth Fowler, was on the stand today, as was Dr. M. D. Lamb of Barre and State's Attorney Gates. The arguments were started this afternoon.

The juryman was not allowed to go to their homes last Saturday, but were kept together over Sunday, although they were allowed the diversion of the theatre Saturday night.

DEER SEASON ENDS,

FIGURES NOT CERTAIN

Commissioner Thomas Says a Great
Many Deer Were Killed, Just How Many He Will Not Hazard
a Guess.

Stowe, Nov. 1.—The deer season is over, Commissioner Thomas has additional help in his office, sending out blanks for returns from the different towns of the number killed and compiling press reports for comparison with the various reports.

Mr. Thomas is of the opinion that an unusually large number of deer have been killed but ventures no estimate. He expects that it will be at least a month before the true figures can be arrived at.

A total of 38,685 hunters' licenses were sent out, 370 being issued in this town. This is the record, considering the population, so far reported.

Unofficial estimates by experienced hunters place the number killed during the open season at 5,000, about twice as many as in 1908. The season has been remarkably free from accidents, when the number of hunters out is considered. Only one fatality resulted, Fred Harris of Westminster.

BLOODSHED EXPECTED

AT VOTING BOOTHS

Armed Mountaineers and Feudists Are Patrolling Streets at Jackson, Ky., Trouble Started With Stealing of State Ballots.

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 1.—Armed mountaineers and feudists are patrolling the streets of the town of Jackson, with all telegraph communication cut off and troops with 2,000 rounds of ball cartridges opposing them. Bloodshed is believed to be certain at the election tomorrow. Gov. Wilson, who was with Taft in New Orleans, is hurrying back to try to prevent an outbreak. The trouble began yesterday when the state ballots were stolen but they were returned today to the election officials. Ed. Calkhan, a noted feudist, is declared to be behind the effort of the Democrats to get offices by armed intimidation.

WILD COW CHARGED PEOPLE.

Agitated Mrs. Bossy Was Finally Brought Down With Lead.

Essex Junction, Nov. 1.—Considerable excitement was caused on Main street Saturday when a cow being driven to the abattoir had a brain storm and broke loose from her driver near the railroad crossing. She made a wild run up the street, encountering and throwing to the ground William Stevens of Grand Isle and the young son of Eugene Bouchard, who was at play near the sidewalk. At first both were thought to be injured internally but after a time they rallied and apparently suffered no more than a severe shaking up. In the meantime the animal continued on her way, making lunges at everyone and inspiring the more nervous to climb fences. After running nearly a mile she encountered Roy Atherton, who was out for deer with a full round of cartridges. He unloaded his rifle in the right shoulder of the oncoming beast and Harris Grog, who was also out for deer, did a similar turn, bringing the bovine junkie to a sudden end.

WERE RANDOLPH PEOPLE.

Five of The People in St. Johnsbury's
Big Fire.

Randolph, Nov. 1.—The people of this village were greatly shocked to learn that Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Cushman and their granddaughter and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Tanser lost their lives in the fire at St. Johnsbury. For many years they were residents of Randolph, going from here to Barre and Northfield and within a year to St. Johnsbury. Mrs. Cushman had three sisters who reside here and Mr. Cushman had one brother, besides a daughter, Mrs. George Bruce. Mr. Bruce and Mr. Travers started at once to the scene of the tragedy, expecting to return with the remains, but it was found impossible because of the condition of the bodies. The daughter, Mrs. Bruce, and the sisters have the sympathy of the entire community.

AUTOMOBILE FELL

Mrs. Chas. S. Brown of Brattleboro Probably Fatally Injured Yesterday Afternoon—Others Were Hurt.

Brattleboro, Nov. 1.—While speeding along the West river road late yesterday afternoon in an automobile, Charles S. Brown, his wife and party of friends were precipitated over an embankment landing in West river 80 feet below. The occupants clung to the machine and as the car struck the rocks on the river bottom, all were thrown out. Mrs. Brown was severely injured and has slight chance of recovery. The other occupants were scratched and bruised. The accident happened near the farm of John I. Vetter, in the town of Dumfries, about two and a half miles from Brattleboro. The party was returning home after a day's trip. At the time of the accident Mr. Brown was driving carefully around a bad curve when the steering gear broke and, before he could reduce the power the car shot down the bank rolling over and over to the river bed below. The car was badly damaged in its fall and may be a total loss. Medical assistance was summoned from Brattleboro to attend Mrs. Brown, who was afterward removed to her home. Examination of the machine showed a loose nut on the steering post.

BENNINGTON MAN

KILLED BY GAS

Clarence Crumme Found Dead in Hotel in North Adams, Mass., Yesterday Morning.

North Adams, Mass., Nov. 1.—A man supposed to be Clarence Crumme, about 28 years old, was found dead in bed Sunday morning in his room at the Mansion house. His home is supposed to have been in North Bennington, Vt. Death was caused by gas, and medical Examiner O. J. Brown thinks it was accidental. It was found that the key worked easily and it is believed the man did not sufficiently turn off the gas, or that the key sprang back after it was turned off.

The young man registered at the hotel Saturday night at 10 o'clock and then went out. He returned about 1:30 when he stopped to talk for a few minutes with the night clerk. He had not been drinking, the clerk asserts, and appeared to be in a perfectly normal mood.

342 MEMBERS
OF NEW ORDERGreat Screeching When Owls
Nest Was Instituted

THE LATEST FRATERNITY

To Enter the Field in Barre Was Instituted Yesterday Afternoon with Largest Charter Membership
in New England.

Hoo! Hoo! Who is going to be an Owl? was the slogan at Woodmen's hall yesterday afternoon. And the call was answered by 342 men, most of them residents of this city, who forwarded their applications and were instituted as a nest of the order by H. R. Canfield of New York, general organizer of the Owls, who has been in the city for the past three weeks. Mr. Canfield was assisted in the organization by Frank B. Villard, president of the Burlington lodge, Amos Brodkey, captain of the Burlington degree team, and other members of the Burlington nest, including a real Anson goat, which took a prominent part in the work.

Shortly before four o'clock the large number of would-be Owls were lined up in the hall and the obligation was given by President Villard of the Burlington nest. At the conclusion of the serious work of the initiation, four of the members were led tremblingly from the hall by members of the degree team to make their reappearance again in a few minutes one by one and to stunts for the amusement of the spectators.

The following members were elected as officers pro tem: president, James K. Vetter; junior past president, James R. Crotts; vice-president, John D. Bartlett; investigator, L. E. Roberts; warden, James Smart; trustees, Richard Grigg, James Patterson, E. F. Gilley, Martin Riley and Patrick Brown; house committee, O. C. Russell, George Youngson, and Charles A. Lundgren; secretary, Len Averell; treasurer, George M. Marston; physician, Dr. J. W. Steward.

At the conclusion of the business of the session, a buffet lunch was served and an entertainment given by various artists, including six of the members of the Keystone stock company, who gave various specialties, and songs by Chris Mahoney and Frank Vennett.

Music was furnished during the afternoon by Riley's orchestra of four pieces. This nest has the largest charter membership of any ever organized in New England and will easily hold the lead in membership over any other in Vermont. H. R. Canfield, the organizer, came to this city three weeks ago and during that time has, by hard work, succeeded in getting this large number of men together for a nest of Owls.

During the afternoon, J. J. Cayhne, who was recently married, was presented a dozen silver knives and forks by his friends.

OPENS TOMORROW.

Vermont Medical College Will Have Large Attendance.

Burlington, Nov. 1.—The university of Vermont college of medicine will open tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. There will be a slight change in the usual order of events this year, for the details of registration will be gone through with on Tuesday, when the work will be assigned and the classes arranged. On Wednesday the opening exercises will be held in the amphitheatre at the medical college building and Prof. F. S. Lee, who occupies the chair of physiology at the college of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia university, New York, will deliver the principal address. President M. H. Buckham will also speak.

The change from the customary program is only for this year and is made in order that Professor Lee may vote at the New York City election which takes place on Tuesday. The exercises on Wednesday will begin at three o'clock in the afternoon. The registration this year promises to exceed that of several years past and it is expected that there will be a total of over 200 students in the medical college.

The course this year is longer by two weeks than that of last year and it was increased last year by two weeks also. The college has now a full eight months' session. The curriculum fully meets the requirements as to length and number of hours of teaching set forth by both the council on medical education of the American Medical association and of the association of American Medical colleges.

Next year the entrance requirements will be those of the association of American Medical colleges, which are somewhat in advance of the ordinary high school education. In 1912 the medical college will require one year in an academic college before admission.

There will be a few changes in the faculty this year. Dr. D. A. Allen of this city will be associated with the chair of medicine and Dr. William W. Townsend of Rutland has been elected as instructor in venereal diseases. Dr. L. B. Morrison of Burlington has resigned as instructor in histology and Dr. T. S. Brown, also of this city, takes his place. Dr. C. E. Dalton has resigned his position as instructor in medicine, on account of his new position in connection with the state laboratory, and has been elected instructor in toxicology.

An Apt Text.

"I regret to announce," said the substitute preacher, "that your beloved pastor, Dr. Pounder, is indisposed and will be unable to occupy this pulpit for several weeks. Our text this morning is from Hebrews, iv, 9: 'There remaineth therefore a rest for the people of God.'"

And he could not think why some of the congregation smiled.—Boston Tran-

HIS LEG BROKEN

BY FALL OF BOILER

Leon B. Dodge Sustained Serious Injury
Saturday Afternoon While at Work in His Creamery on North Main Street.

Leon B. Dodge, proprietor of Dodge's creamery was the victim of a serious accident Saturday afternoon while assisting in lowering a boiler to the basement of his building at the corner of North Main and Granite streets. The boiler, which weighs several tons, was being lowered through the hole in the floor through which a freight elevator runs. It was lowered sideways and had nearly reached the basement floor when Mr. Dodge started to arrange some blocks of wood upon which to lay it.

As he approached the boiler, the chain with which it was lowered broke with a snap and the weight of the mass of iron fell directly onto Mr. Dodge. The endless rope, with which the elevator is operated, hung in the shaft and as the boiler tipped the end caught in this rope and was held but a few inches above Mr. Dodge's body, he being knocked flat by the heavy mass.

Although he realized that he was seriously injured, Mr. Dodge was able to drag himself from under the boiler. Had it not been for the boiler catching in the elevator rope as it fell, he would undoubtedly have been crushed to death.

Drs. W. D. Reid and M. L. Chandler were called and upon examination found that the right leg was broken in two places above the knee and that other slight injuries had been sustained. R. W. Hooker & Co.'s ambulance was called and the injured man taken to the City hospital, where the fracture was reduced. He is resting as comfortably as may be expected.

JOE BIANCHI
BUCKED JAILHe Found Its Defences Good and Was Defeated

A STRENUOUS ENCOUNTER

Barre Man Was Enraged About the Arrest of His Housekeeper, Laura Locklin, Who Had Just Died in Jail.

Enraged over the arrest of his housekeeper, Laura Locklin, who had been charged with illegal liquor furnishing, Joe Bianchi of 15 Railroad street drove from Northfield to Montpelier last night and went to the Washington county jail, demanding to see the woman who, by the way, had died late Saturday from chronic alcoholism. When told that the woman was dead, he lunged into the room and with a cry, "You killed her!" attacked Frank Durkee, a "trusty" prisoner, who was sitting beside the door, apparently thinking that he was Sheriff Frank H. Tracy.

Sheriff Tracy was in the room, being seated writing a letter on a typewriter. While Deputy Sheriff Hastings was also there; and when Bianchi attacked the "trusty" they rushed to overpower the intruder. Bianchi put up a vigorous fight but was soon felled and hustled into a cell. On searching Bianchi the officers found a large sheath, or hunting knife, in an inside pocket of his overcoat; also a pocket rifle of high power, together with nine cartridges to fit a .303 Savage rifle. Bianchi carried a large sum of money, having $556 in silver and copper coin.

Whether Bianchi intended to use the weapons in his frenzied attack is not known. He did not draw the knife, as was first reported, but struck at Durkee with his fists. Bianchi had been hunting in Northfield during the week, and he drove direct from Northfield Sunday afternoon, leaving there at four o'clock, according to the information which Chief Plunkett of that town furnished to-day. It seems certain that, as soon as informed that the Locklin woman was arrested, he drove post-haste to Montpelier, as, this morning, tracks of a team were discernible in the driveway in front of the jail, while three dollars in small change was found on the ground. Probably Bianchi was accompanied by a friend who drove off when he heard the scene in the jail.

After being placed in the cell, Bianchi moaned and howled to the top of his lungs, following this up with an attack on the furniture of the cell, smashing it all to pieces. Sheriff Tracy then went to the cell and put the handcuffs on the prisoner, later taking him to the hospital part of the jail, where there was nothing but a mattress. Bianchi soon quieted down and went to sleep. He was kept in handcuffs to-day. He complained greatly during the forenoon of pains, which are thought to come from lesions in an appendicitis operation. He refused to have anything to say to-day.
